

5

l engage in action by speaking up for equity and looking for opportunities to learn more.

I have been reading about educational equity and can give concrete examples.

2

l can define what educational equity looks, feels, and sounds like.

l am ready to learn about educational equity.

DEVELOPING

 $\langle 0, 0 \rangle$

I am comfortable

discussing and

learning about

educational equity

with diverse groups of people.

EDUCATIONAL EQUITYWhere Am I?

*Please note that no matter where you self-select, this is a continuous learning process.

BEGINNING

l incorporate equitable strategies in my job (Ex. differentiating curriculum, having critical discussions about race, lifting students' identities to the forefront of my work).

I actively work against systems that are inequitable (Ex. understanding the complexities and nuances of this work, questioning institutionalized norms, creating solutions, designing my impact).

TAKING ACTION

